

Mark Watje

Mark Watje is a Senior Marketing Management major at the University of Northern Iowa. While in high school, Mark competed in many academic programs, sports, and enjoyed working on his classic car. He completed his education at Carroll High School in only 3 years. At UNI, Mark has been actively involved in Navigators Student Ministries and is the president of Collegiate Entrepreneurs Organization. He will walk in May, having been in school for only 3 years-- again. A few months after graduating, Mark will be getting married to his high school sweetheart, Heidi Hughes. In his free time, Mark enjoys traveling, hunting, fishing, playing soccer, watching movies, and debating politics.

Endless Wind Energy Solutions

Mark founded Endless Wind seeks to provide clean, alternative energy solutions to industrial parks throughout the Mid West. The company has selected industrial parks as a target market because nearly all are currently supplied by fossil fuels. Huge wind projects are being erected to power homes. However, no company is actively seeking to satisfy the needs of manufacturing companies. The move to alternative energy will help these businesses to become environmentally responsible while still helping the bottom line.
