

Hungry4Huh?

Hungry4Huh? is a vendor cart selling Korean Burritos, or Kurritos. The Kurritos are a fusion mix of Korean and Mexican cuisines. They include marinated beef strips, steamed white rice, remoulade sauce, and various veggies in a fried flour tortilla. Hungry4Huh? has locations in Ames, Des Moines, and Champaign, IL, and will soon be placing carts in Cedar Falls, Iowa City and Madison. The goal is to someday make the business a franchise.

Trevor Carlson

Trevor Carlson is a 23 year old psychology major at the University of Northern Iowa. He grew up in a small northwest Iowa town, Ida Grove. Trevor became interested in becoming an entrepreneur several years ago after a friend of his started his own rental property business and made a healthy living. In Trevor's free time he plays golf, video games, and poker with his friends. He also enjoys reading books and learning as much as he can from videos and other successful people. Trevor hopes to apply everything he will learn from his psychology degree to his experiences with Hungry 4 Huh? and any other future business opportunities.
