

Myers Enterprises

Myers Enterprises is a dynamic holding company ran by Senior UNI Marketing/Advertising Business student Jason Myers who also plans to start his MBA Graduate program in February 2011.

Ceiling Pros ASAP, provides a cost-effective, environmentally-friendly cleaning and replacement service for fast-food restaurant ceiling tiles. In one short night, ceilings go from grimy to good as new. A patented non-toxic cleaning system makes this possible. This service is provided without altering acoustical properties or fire ratings.

Power Ink Marketing and Graphics, Inc. offer a cutting-edge marketing approach for any client. Treating business cards as mini brochures and offering customized videos which highlight clients' services. PIMG aims to guide clients in the ever-changing age of marketing, with the right mix of traditional marketing, social media and multi-media marketing platforms.

An Online Baby Boutique produces adorable, head-turning fashions for your baby. From designer headbands, fashionable burp clothes, to the most delightful dresses you've ever seen. We make oh-so-soft blankets and safe, cozy sleep wear.

Jason also plans to end the search for the great American cookie. After making chocolate chip cookies for fun, Jason turned the hobby into a business concept after hearing enough people say, "Forget the MBA program and go into business selling these." From perfectly gooey chocolate chip, to delectable oatmeal raisin, to chewy peanut butter and more, these cookies make a memorable gift – for your boss, your family, or yourself.

Jason Myers

Jason Myers grew up in Oregon as the oldest of seven children. An entrepreneur since the age of eight, he has created several businesses. Jason has seven years of real estate experience, as well as years of home security management and more than a decade of sales experience. He captained his college soccer team at BYU-Hawaii and an eagle scout. Now Jason enjoys volunteering as a youth DJ for his church's many dances. He is married to KWWL News Anchor Sunny Layne, and the couple has one daughter.