

SMJ PHOTOGRAPHY & CREATIONS

Stacey Jambura is a native of Colorado Springs, CO, has lived in Waterloo for the past 2½ years. Stacey is majoring in Early Childhood Education and Elementary Education and will graduate in May 2010 after completing her student teaching. Growing up in Alaska and Colorado, Stacey developed a deep appreciation for the majesty of the mountains and for the beauty of nature. These are the inspiration for her photography. After receiving her first camera at the age of eight, Stacey began to study nature through its lens, taking photos of flowers, trees and skies as well as photos of her two little dogs. Stacey plans to devote her summers off from teaching to developing her photographic art business.

SMJ Photography & Creations was established in late August 2009. It is a registered small business that sells photographic images in many various forms including but not limited to: prints, matted, unmated and framed, gallery stretched canvases and note cards. All products are competitively priced. SMJ Photography & Creations is a self-owned business that believes in providing quality products to its customers. All images used within the products have all been personally photographed and all products are hand-assembled. This allows for special attention to detail in each and every item sold.
